Martha Perkins is an artist who resides in Swarthmore busying herself with parenting, wifing, gardening, building of things, and as of late, lots of painting. Just over a year ago, she created mysketchexperiment.com as a way to trick herself into redirecting her creative urges toward making art on a daily basis. Her style tends toward the abstract with botanical themes and bright colors. You can follow her artistic progress on her website and the evolution of her style as she continues to "Just do it!"
